TEACHING & ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCE

Syracuse University College of Law, Syracuse, NY

Visiting Assistant Professor of Law and Director, Law Firm Program 1998-2002

Legal Writing Professor, Legal Communications and Research Program 2002-present

Professor, LEO Summer Program

- Director. Taught year-long, two credit required course that introduces first-year students to legal analysis, research, professional writing, client counseling, litigation, negotiation and appellate advocacy. While carrying 74 students, I supervised 14 teaching assistants in collaboration with tenured law faculty, converted program from TA model to legal writing professional model program, sat of faculty committees, and hired and trained full-time legal writing professors over a one year period. During this time, from 1998 through 2002, I redesigned and developed a new curriculum, syllabus, course and administrative materials, annual course supplements, all research and writing assignment problem sets and materials (in multiple jurisdictional settings) for the program, founded the College of Law Writing Center, developed and taught a three-credit upper-level writing course, and taught and developed a pre-admission writing and analysis course (part of the College of Law's LEO – "Legal Educational Opportunity" Program, now named "Orange Edge").

- Professor. Returned to full-time teaching first-year and advanced writing courses in 2002. Academic 2014-2015, currently teaching the following courses: LAW 609 – first-year legal research and writing (15-20 students), LAW 690 –upper level legal research and writing (designed and teach), LAW 605 – Orange Edge (pre-law school course, designed and teach), LAW 605 Orange Edge Plus (pre-law for special students, designed and teach) , LAW 991 – Independent Studies (4 currently), LLM 901 – Legal Writing for LLM International Students (designed and teach), LLM 902 International LLM student Preparatory Course (designed and teach), LAW 800 Foundational Skills in Attorney Licensing (designed and teach), Law Review/Journal Advisor, National Appellate Team Faculty Coach. Took on as many as ten independent studies with foreign LL.M. students for their final thesis papers for their Masters of Law program requirements while teaching five other full courses.

- Additional Special Service All other years: in addition to above responsibilities, supervised independent study and law review projects, coached moot court teams (Jessup 1998-2001, National Appellate 2002-2008); National Moot Court Appellate Competition (medalists and advanced to nationals from regionals six of past eight years, best advocate award five of past eight years), developed rubrics and materials for Moot Court Honor Society, served on faculty curriculum, academic standards and hiring committees (1998-2002), member, University College Continuing Education Legal Studies Program Advisory Committee (1998-1999), developed upper-level and summer courses, ALWD former director/person of stature representative.

Catholic University of Lebanon, Beirut, Lebanon Fall, 2017

Taught international LL.M. students in Beirut, Lebanon a general skills course including legal research and writing, the American system of law, and American contract law. Developed all teaching materials for the course.

Albany Law School of Union University, Albany, NY Legal Research and Writing Program, 1989 - 1993 Lawyering Skills Pilot Program, 1992 - 1993 Lawyering Skills Program, 1993 - 1998

- Full-time Faculty Position. Taught four credit hour course that integrated skills training through clinical simulations and exercises in client interviewing, drafting of client letters, pleadings, motion practice, pre-trial fact investigation, discovery, litigation strategy, professional responsibility, negotiation, and trial & appellate court advocacy with traditional research, analysis and objective/persuasive writing components of typical first-year legal research and writing courses. I participated in the design and administration of this course from its inception, became fully familiar with the major texts and pedagogy in this field, and have developed extensive course materials. Course load: 63 students.

- Additional Service. Independent study research courses (2-3 cr. hrs., 1991-1998), collaborative teaching through simulation in clinical trial technique, pre-trial and skills training "bridge courses" (1990-1998), founding faculty advisor/supervisor to the Albany Environmental Outlook journal (1994-1998), mentoring, supervision and award of credit for scholarship produced by members of Albany Law Review and the Albany Journal of Science and Technology (2 cr. hrs., 1994-1998), annual service on three faculty committees (1992-1998), service as prosecutor in student disciplinary proceedings (1996-1998), service as faculty advisor and coach to National Appellate Advocacy Team (2 cr. hrs., 1995-1998), ABA Negotiations Team (2 cr. hrs., 1996-1998), Frederick Douglass Moot Court Team (1998), Donna Morse Intra-school Client Counseling and Negotiations competitions, service as consultant, practice and competition judge to International, Anti-trust, Civil Rights, Environmental, Family Law, ABA/NITA National Trial, Securities, Tax, Client Counseling teams (1989-1998), provided academic support/counseling for "at
